Oklahoma Governor Assumes Powers Of Military Dictator

Mailed Fist Of State To Back Walton In 'Klan War'

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The mailed fist will descend upon whomsoever opposes Governor J. C. Walton in his war on floggings. Assuming all the powers of a military dictator, the executive made it more plain today that martial law and state troops will be the answer to any opposition to his will.

Members of the state legislature if they attempt to convene themselves in extraordinary session, to consider the governor's act, will go to jail. State newspapers that raise their voices against the executive, will be muzzled by a censorship. Counties considered by the governor to be hostile to his course of action will be occupied by troops.

This is the plan of campaign outlined by Governor Walton and he promised today that he spoke no idle threats.

Should members of the legislature come to Oklahoma City without his call and attempt to meet in special session, Walton declared he would consider such action direct interference with his efforts to return the government to the hands of the people constituted authorities and to secure equal justice for all of our citizens. "If they come here and try such an unlawful thing, I'll put them all in jail and keep them there as long as I am in office," he warned.

Certain of the law makers were reported yesterday to be contemplating an attempt to hold such a session. No legislature in Oklahoma has ever met without a call from the governor, the constitution providing for this procedure. Those said to have been planning a session without the governor's consent, were understood to have taken the position that there was a warrant for such a course because the constitution does not expressly forbid.

On the other hand, even bitter political enemies seem to sustain Governor Walton's position.

With the time limit drawing near for the execution of the governor's threat to clamp down an iron handed military rule in Tulsa county, no effort is being made to meet the demands of the ultimatum calling for the resignation of five Tulsa county officials, alleged by Walton to be under the domination of the Ku Klux Klan. It was intimated that unless (Continued on Page Three)

Argentina Proud Of Firpo, Looking To "Next Time" For Hope

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The great Firpo was beaten by the greater Dempsey.

This is the way last night's fight for the heavy weight championship of the world is epitomized here. Although gloom pervades all Argentina over the defeat of the country's idol, expressions of pride are heard on all sides for the magnificent battle he fought, and for the stout heart displayed.

"The next time," says the Argentine, "will be different. The next time he'll win."

District Chiefs Under Pastoral Fire At Conference

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Victorious in their movement to gain a majority on the ministerial delegation to the Quadrennial General Conference at Springfield, Mass., next May, the pastors of the Northeast Ohio Methodist Episcopal Church today turned their attention to considering memorials. Nine of the twelve ministerial delegates elected were pastors. The other three were President W. H. McMaster, of Mount Union College; Rev. H. K. Hilbery, of Steubenville, and Rev. J. J. Wallace, editor of the Methodist Episcopal Advocate, Pittsburgh, Pa. Rev. Hilbery was the only district superintendent chosen, and he was not elected until the last ballot.

Among the memorials expected to come before the conference today is one requesting that the term of office of district superintendents be limited. Another demands the election of superintendents by the annual conference. At present they are appointed by the bishops.

The Laymen's Association, meeting in conjunction with the conference, last night passed a resolution asking the general conference to require bishops to render a quarterly accounting of all money received by them, with the exception of their salaries. This money, the resolution states, should be turned into the Episcopalian fund from which bishops are paid.

Other resolutions passed by the laymen, favor the full ordination of women and provisions to safeguard the courses of study for ministers from negative and rational theology of an atheistic type.

Bird Man Killed In Plane Fall At Dayton

DAYTON, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Major E. L. Napier, flight surgeon at McCook Field, was instantly killed this morning about 9:30 o'clock when the plane he was driving fell to earth.

The fatal fall was witnessed by a number of persons at the field, and they report that the right wing of the ship broke in the air.

After the wing broke, the ship, a single seated biplane turned over in a barrel roll. Major Napier was seen in his attempts to leave the plane, but his fast turning precluded a safe jump.

He fell at McCook Field, 200 yards from the main office, outside the ship, with the parachute opened but tangled up with the plane.

Bandits Get Away In Payroll Theft

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Sept. 15.—Three armed bandits yesterday held up two express messengers and escaped in a stolen automobile with two payrolls amounting to $5,840. They seized this and another belonging to the Cleveland File Company.

Mother Of Two Found Dead On Road; Merchant Held

NASHVILLE, TENN., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of a woman found on a road near here two days ago and in connection with which R. F. Morse, a merchant, was arrested, has been identified as that of Mrs. Pearl Baskin, of Johnson, Tennessee, the mother of two children in the Tennessee Industrial School here.

It was within two miles of the Industrial School that the mother was found dead on the roadside.

Morse, arrested and charged with manslaughter on the ground that his truck had killed the woman, denied an alleged statement made after the body was found, that his truck had accidentally killed the woman. A woman's husband yesterday failed to find evidence of death through an automobile crash and orders were given for a chemical analysis of vital signs, seeking evidence of poison.

City detectives declared that they would seek to prove that the woman was thrown from a passing automobile after having been murdered.

Professional Pride Of Navy Restored With Daugherty Opinion

(BY DAVID LAWRENCE)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The Navy is happy today. It doesn't have to chase bootleggers. For months the professional pride of the American Navy has been touched with the possibility that it might be turned into a domestic police force. Sailor men said they were willing to fight all sorts of wars, but they didn't want to pursue smugglers.

Attorney General Daugherty's formal opinion that the navy couldn't legally be used to enforce the Prohibition act without special legislation by congress has temporarily at least given the navy man relief from what might have been to them an obnoxious burden. The "dry" congress are numerous enough to pass a law permitting the navy to be used but the navy department would probably be found as busy in the pursuit of national defense maneuvers and (Continued On Page Two)

Damage By Frost Not Serious, Observer Says

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A cloudy weather in the northeastern and central portions of the state last night prevented frost which might have been damaging. W. A. Alexander, United States Observer, said today.

Whatever frost there was last night, he said, was in the western and southwestern sections of Ohio, and according to reports to him, was not damaging to crops in any degree.

Last night's lowest temperature in the state was at Granville, Bucyrus and Norwalk. The reading at these places was 32, one degree higher than the low mark of Thursday.

Mr. Alexander does not believe, he said, that any appreciable crop damage has been done by the unseasonable weather.

There may be light frost tonight, he said, but according to him, warm weather will set in tomorrow.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Heavy frost and temperatures low enough to form ice an eighth of an inch thick, enveloped the vicinity of Youngstown early today and heavy damage to truck gardens was reported.

J. S. Hedges, County Farm Agent, with headquarters at Canfield, reported that peppers, tomatoes and other vegetables were killed. The city heating plant reported that today was the earliest when steam heat had been required in the buildings which it serves.

Probe Of Dollings Operations In Indiana Urged By Atty. General

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Operations in Indiana of the R. L. Dollings Company and its subsidiaries should be the subject of a grand jury investigation, according to a recommendation made today by Governor Warren T. McCray by Attorney General U. S. Lesh. The Dollings concerns in this state are in the hands of Bert McBride as receiver.

The report of the attorney general to the governor is voluminous and includes the result of the work of special investigation of the state department which spent several weeks in probing the Dollings Company's affairs.

The attorney general expresses the opinion that he advises various Dollings concerns must have known that their methods of operations would eventually result in financial collapse.

Harold Taylor, attorney for Mr. McBride, expressed surprise that the attorney general had recommended a grand jury investigation. Investigations of the receiver, Mr. Taylor said, indicated that Indiana officials of the Dollings Company and its subsidiaries were under the direction of the Dollings officials in Ohio and that all plans of organization came from Ohio.

85,000 Pay $1,200,000 To See Jack Retain Crown

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Approximately 85,000 fans paid more than $1,200,000 to see Jack Dempsey knock out Luis Angel Firpo, according to the estimates early today of promoter Tex Rickard. Fully 25,000 more were massed around the Polo Grounds, unable to gain admittance.

The battle, in point of both attendance and receipts, ranks second only to the Dempsey-Carpentier spectacle two years ago at Bordes Thirty Acres, Jersey City, where 93,000 paid $1,600,000 to see the champion conquer his French rival. The Willard-Firpo fight at the same arena last July was considered the record, with attracting close to 100,000, but official figures showed a paid attendance of only 75,000.

Dempsey reaped with this triumph the greatest fortune of his career. Receiving 37 1/2 per cent of the gross receipts, his share on the basis of estimated receipts, would be about $450,000 while Firpo with a 12 1/2 per cent portion, would get $150,000. This amount is nearly twice as much as the Argentine received for knocking out Jess Willard.

Columbus Negro In Jail Following Wife Shooting

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Alleged to have shot his wife three times during a quarrel last night, Tracy Woodard, 26, negro, is held at the city prison, where a charge of murder probably will be placed against him today.

Mercury Due For Upward Trip, Is Bureau Prediction

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—A temperature of 27 degrees in the cranberry marshes of New Jersey, marked the eastward swing of the high pressure area during the night, but the low pressure area which is following it brought warmer weather into the Upper Mississippi Valley, the Northern Plains States and the Northern Rocky Mountain Region.

The area of high pressure centered today over the Upper Lake Region, according to Weather Bureau reports and cool, weather continued generally east of the Mississippi River. Frost appeared this morning in the vicinity of the Great Lakes, Ohio and the North Atlantic States and was forecast for tonight in the Lower Lake Region, the Upper Ohio Valley, the North Atlantic States and the Mountain sections of the Middle Atlantic States. The beginning of higher temperatures for this section was indicated in a prediction of warmer weather Sunday in Tennessee, the Ohio Valley and the Lower Lake Region.

Public Eye To Witness Probe Of Navy Crash

SAN DIEGO, CALIF., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Naval court investigation of the wreck of seven destroyers at Point Honda last Saturday night will be conducted with the utmost thoroughness and vigor and in the full light of public eye, Admiral Robert Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, told the Associated Press here last night.

"Every fact bearing on the disaster will be laid before the American public," he continued. "Seven ships were destroyed. Lives were lost. This is no time to withhold facts from the public. The navy has nothing to hide; on the contrary, the navy is above all, desirous that the public be acquainted with the true facts."

"This investigation is a very serious matter," he continued. "Seven ships were destroyed. Lives were lost. This is no time to withhold facts from the public. The navy has nothing to hide; on the contrary, the navy is above all, desirous that the public be acquainted with the true facts."

Reports that the real investigation of the disaster would be completed in secret before the public inquiry opens Monday, were ridiculed by Captain David Sellers, commander of the naval training station here, and a member of the investigating board.

Recess In Liquor Case Taken Until Monday

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Today was a holiday in the Federal Court, and the trial of the four Ohioans on charges of conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition law went over until Monday, when it is expected that Louis Auerbach will be placed on the witness stand.

Auerbach, who had been mentioned frequently in testimony given by government witnesses against Joseph A. Shiner, former Federal State Prohibition Director, Fred Counts, former Federal Prohibition agent for this district; Samuel A. Hoskins, Columbus attorney, and A. Frank Counts, brother of Fred, was brought back here from the Atlanta prison with his brother, Abraham Auerbach, Samuel Rembrandt and Samuel Imber, both indicted.

Rembrandt closed his testimony yesterday after he had been on the stand more than eight and a half hours. He testified that as representative of Louis Auerbach, he had paid Hoskins, who, he said, representing Shiner, thousands of dollars for alcohol withdrawn permits.

French Premier Lauds Work Of Americans At St. Michiel

HATTONCHATEL DEPARTMENT OF THE MEUSE, FRANCE, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare, at the celebration to day of Hattonchatelet's reconquest by American troops, described the memorable work of the American army in clearing the St. Michiel salient in which this town lay when the American attack was launched in September, 1918. The forty houses comprising the village have been rebuilt and the church and abbey restored with funds supplied by Miss Belle Shiner, of Holyoke, Mass.

Premier Poincare described how the Germans had occupied the heights of the Meuse during the last phase of the battle of the Marne when those heights had been almost denuded of French forces. For four years he recalled, no news had come to the east of France from the village of Hattonchatelet, well within the Meuse Salient. The captive town of St. Michiel could still be seen, from the French lines, but nothing behind it.

"Until September, 1918, the St. Michiel salient remained in the flesh of our unfortunate country like a poisoned thorn," continued the premier.

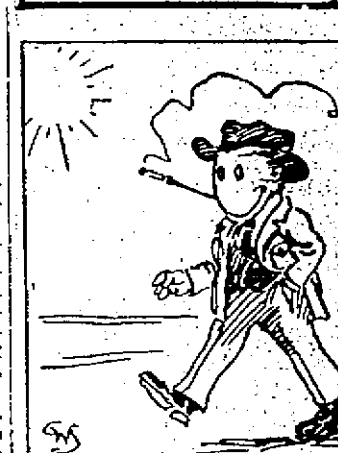

"The higher command hoped to be able to extract the poison, but the necessary forces were lacking. It was only during the last few weeks of the war that operations at St. Michiel could be resumed and brilliantly executed by the American army."

Premier Poincare described how the mission had been carried out and the enemy driven off, leaving 4,000 prisoners, 466 guns and 752 machine guns, quantities of munitions, and railway material in the hands of the victors.

"The victory was complete," added the premier, upon the splendid work of General Pershing's magnificent divisions."

The premier ended his speech by addressing grateful remembrance on behalf of the French dead to their American comrades fallen on the field of honor and now sleeping in the soil of France.

"NEW DEAL" EXPECTED BY JUGO-SLAVS IN FUME ROW

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Italy's notice to Jugoslavians with respect to acceptance of a settlement of the Fiume problem sometimes referred to as an ultimatum, which was due to expire today, has been extended, according to official quarters here. It is expected that diplomatic negotiations regarding Porto Barro and the Delta there, immediately adjacent to Fiume, will continue on the basis of some new Italian proposals, the nature of which as yet is not known. All danger of hostilities between Italy and Jugoslavians has been averted by British officials.

BELGRADE, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—"All reports circulated in the past few days alleging that tension existed in the relations between Jugoslavians and Italy because of the intensification of the work of the Fiume conference committee, are unfounded," says a statement issued by the foreign office. It adds that "the desire of both countries for an agreement is undiminished."

Spain Quiet As New Regime Takes Over Reins Of Kingdom

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Messages from Spain received in London during the night contain no indication that any disturbances have occurred in connection with the military coup d'état; however, it is recalled that a strict censorship prevails.

According to an untimed Reuters dispatch from Madrid, the second day of the revolt passed as quietly as the first. At the time the telegram was sent groups of people were standing before the Royal Palace and in the Puerta Del Sol, but they were there only out of curiosity, although there has been no detailed news from the throne.

Another agency report says that General Rivera's action has been received with general sympathy, as all Spain has become tired of the negative policy followed by the late ministry.

The Daily Express today prints a cablegram signed by Marquis Estella (Primo Rivera) under date of Friday in which the Captain General, replying to an inquiry, says "the National and Military movement in Spain had no other purpose than to

FORMER LOCAL MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT IN DAYTON; WIFE MAY DIE

Mother And Babe Fall In Front Of C. & O. Engine At Russell; Crushed To Death

Two lives, mother and her babe, were snuffed out in an accident which occurred at the C. & O. depot in Russell, Ky., about six-thirty o'clock Friday evening when Mrs. C. P. Skidmore, with her 15 months old baby, James, in her arms, fell while attempting to cross the railroad tracks and both were badly crushed under the wheels of a yard engine.

Mrs. Skidmore had left her home with her infant son and an older boy, five years old, to go to a picture show, and the mother seeing the hand of the oldest boy and quickly entered her steps in an effort to get across the tracks, but when she stepped on the steel rail, her foot slipped. As she went down, she must have realized her peril, for she thrust her oldest boy to one side and he was unharmed. When the bodies of the mother and babe were taken from under the engine cab, life was extinct. Mrs. Skidmore

Instant Death Is Fate Of Walter Riegel; Skull Crushed

Wallace Riegel, aged 33, of Dayton, O., was instantly killed Saturday morning and his wife, Mrs. Cora Moore Riegel, was so badly hurt that she is expected to die when their automobile and a street car collided in Dayton. Riegel's death was instantaneous as his skull was crushed. His wife was taken to a hospital in an unconscious condition. It is believed she is suffering from internal injuries.

Mr. Riegel was a former well known resident of this city and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Riegel of 1417 Offense street. They received a message this morning conveying meager news of the accident. Mr. Riegel and son-in-law, Stanton Shela left at once by motor for Dayton and relatives are anxiously awaiting news from them.

As to the condition of Mrs. Riegel who is well known in this city, it is presumed that Mr. Riegel and wife were starting on a week end trip when their machine was struck by a street car and badly damaged.

Mr. Riegel, who was 33 years old in addition to his parents is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Stanton Shela of this city and Mrs. Roland L. Kable of St. Louis. He was for years prominently identified with the Deleo Lighting company of Dayton and for the past four years had held a mechanical post at the McCook Aviation field near Dayton. He was married in 1913 just after he left Portsmouth to locate in Dayton.

Wadsworth Flays 18th Amendment

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Prior to the enactment of the 18th amendment it was never suspected that the constitution would contain a provision limiting or prohibiting activities of the individual, United States Senator Wadsworth declared today in an address before the State Convention of the American Legion. "It is a great pity," he said, "for this conception was violated by the Eighteenth Amendment, which says that an individual cannot do certain things. The amendment is a statute, sumptuary in character, for it seeks to govern the personal conduct and habits of the individual citizen, always a difficult and dangerous thing to attempt."

"It is not good constitutional law," he said. "The statute is being violated right and left. Millions of people purchase or consume illegal alcoholic beverages. The Federal government and the states collectively spend millions to stop the traffic, after four years they have made no appreciable headway."

"The corrupting influence of this situation is admitted and dreaded by every honest mayor and chief of police in the United States. Indeed, the corruption among Federal enforcement agents and local police and enforcement officers has been exposed time and time again. It is only bad law that brings contempt and wholesale violation in its train."

Senator Wadsworth urged such changes in the law by congress as will prevent the return of the saloon, eliminate the intoxicating and hence always dangerous liquors, and at the same time permit the consumption of those liquors which the experience and reasoning powers of the people convince them are harmless."

N. M. A. Seeks "Showdown" In "Gas War"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(By the Associated Press)—All automobile clubs in the United States were invited today by the National Motorists Association to attend a conference at Cleveland, Ohio, September 20, 21 and 22, to plan action for a complete survey of the gasoline situation in an effort to determine why motorists are charged from 12 to 15 cents a gallon for gas in one state and from 22 to 25 cents a gallon in another.

"What is needed," said Fred H. Canby, executive secretary of the association, "is a showdown on the gasoline situation with the thought in mind at all times to consider fairly the problems of the producer as well as complaints of the consumer."

Mr. Canby suggested that the facts gathered be placed before state legislatures and congress for remedial action where necessary.

Facts About Paving Brick Industry And Local Prices

Is Portsmouth trying to ruin its own industries?

Should an industry which is distributing approximately three hundred thousand dollars annually in pay rolls in our city be considered as a cancer upon the community?

To the Readers of The Portsmouth newspaper:

We have watched with considerable interest the development of the anti-paving brick propaganda in the city of Portsmouth during the last twelve months, and thus far have refrained from entering into the discussion, feeling that perhaps little benefit could be obtained by our so doing.

When The Peebles Paving Brick Company was incorporated in 1902, we were the fifth brick plant in Portsmouth and Sciotoville producing paving brick, and a few years later The Carlyle Paving Brick Company erected their plant at Sciotoville, making the sixth company to enter into the paving brick business in this city. We are of the opinion that these plants have been a large factor in the development and growth of our city, distributing as they have over these years, large sums of money in pay rolls, which in turn have been spent in our midst. On the other hand, we believe that every fair-minded citizen will admit that Portsmouth and Scioto county is one of the best paved sections in the state of Ohio because of the continued use of their own products.

By our own diligent efforts we have built up a product which is accepted all over the states of Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia as the standard of quality in paving brick. In fact, the record of tests of our brick has by far exceeded those of any other brick made or shipped into the state of Ohio, as shown by the State Highway Department, Testing Laboratory. We cannot therefore understand why our product may go elsewhere and be sought after as it is, yet, in our own community we must be the target for such speeches as Councilman Horr delivered before our City Council on the night of October 18, 1922, or the attack which has been made upon us at the open meeting of the Board of Control on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Our intention in this article is to present to the readers the real facts as they exist, and such as we can substantiate. We cannot understand the motive which would prompt Portsmouth's business men to make such accusations. Why did not Judge Torrence tell the public that he bought the city of Portsmouth with the Ford Road improvement which he built during the summer of 1921, and for which he paid $17.00 per thousand. Instead of making the statement that we are charging $28.00 per thousand for the same brick which he claims to have bought for $7.00? We are furnishing the city of Portsmouth with the best quality of material which is strictly first class in every respect, and this quality has never been sold by this company at a price of anything like $7.00 per thousand.

We are also curious to know what has become of the other members of the so-called Paving Brick Trust in Portsmouth, for if you will look over the six plants which were originally producing paving brick you will find that two have been dismantled, two are now running on fire brick, and one is running on face brick, leaving our plant as the only remaining paving brick plant in this district. Why has this condition come about? Largely because of the desires of the men interested in the other companies to get away from a business in which they were being harassed by people who are not in possession of the facts, and further, with a desire to undertake a more profitable line of endeavor.

Is it reasonable to expect that the prices of lumber, sand, cement, asphalt, tar, steel, labor and every other material entering into the construction of streets and roads should materially increase and the price of paving brick remain the same? No, factors which cause the increase in price of the other commodities enter into our production costs just as vitally as they do in the other materials.

We have yet to record a single instance where The Peebles Paving Brick Company has not given Portsmouth and Scioto County the advantage of its being a local industry, and have always sold brick cheaper in Portsmouth than elsewhere, because of the fact that we have never equalized freight with any of the competing paving brick districts. Why then does Councilman Horr undertake to show that the paving brick industry has been guilty of holding up and robbing the city of Portsmouth for the last thirty years, and at the same time overlook the fact that all brands of cement, which is one of the largest factors in the cost of any road construction, should be sold at Portsmouth at the same price by all dealers when Alpha cement, which is made in Trenton, Ohio, can be shipped into Portsmouth for nine and one-half cents per hundred weight freight, whereas it costs twenty-three cents per hundred weight to ship Lehigh cement from Allentown, Pennsylvania, to Portsmouth? Why should Attorney Arthur Bannan make the misleading statement before an open meeting of citizens, that brick streets were costing less in Jackson than in Portsmouth, when the facts of the matter are that the street referred to in Jackson was built upon a rolled slag found ation, the material for which costs that city practically nothing, or ten cents a load, when our city specifications provide for a six-inch concrete base, and we can prove to anyone's satisfaction that the price of the brick delivered at Jackson was $1.15 per thousand higher than the price which was being quoted at Portsmouth at that time.

We have always had a sincere desire of serving our community to the very best of our ability and it has been a source of considerable pride to us in previous years in the way in which the road and street work in this district has progressed.

Our company has been annually paying approximately $60,000.00 paving brick of which amount less than 70 per cent is marketed locally. We have been guilty of nothing except that of making a diligent effort to sell our product at a fair price and in a community which should point with pride to our material as a home product.

Movie Star Talks To Times From Los Angeles

In the many years of its existence the Times has published thousands of interviews. And an interview can be obtained in many ways. In an office, in a hotel, in a motor car, by telephone or letter.

But today the Times obtained an exclusive interview from Ernest Torrence, star of "Ruggles of Red Gap," which comes to the Columbia on Monday, by long distance telephone. Torrence spoke from the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, thousands of miles across the continent. The novel interview lasted six minutes, the stunt being arranged by the Columbia Theater.

"Ready with Los Angeles" sang the long distance operator when all was ready. And the interview was on.

"Hello," boomed a deep, resonant voice. It was Torrence, and the transmission was perfect. Except for a spasmodic sighing sound the ensuing conversation was as perfect as if the Times had been connected with a Portsmouth subscriber.

"How did you get into the morose?" we asked the star of "Ruggles." It was the first thing we could think of.

"Fought my way in," came the laconic reply. "I have been on the scene in this city for capacities for twenty years—mostly in comic opera. Every film man in New York in whom I confided my secret ambition to get into the movies, told me I never do. I was too tall and that my facial expressions wouldn't register for the camera."

"I listened to these people for years, but finally raised enough nerve to apply to a New York casting director for a job. It was really easy—but every director wanted me for heavy roles. Said I was an ideal villain. In a short time I became known as a heavy because of my work in 'Tolable David' and 'Broken Chains'."

"And that's where I began fighting. I wanted to be an actor, and not a fighting, or brute, or a bad man. When I came to Los Angeles it was the same old story over again, until Jesse Lasky of Paramount sent for me."

"You've heard of my fight in Hollywood," I told him, "and now

I suppose I'll have to begin fighting you."

"But I didn't. Mr. Lasky gave me my big chance in 'The Covered Wagon' and an even greater opportunity in 'Ruggles of Red Gap,' which has just been completed."

"In this last production I have a distinct comedy role—that of Cousin Egbert from Red Gap. And it is a far cry indeed from my work in 'Tolable David.'"

"And that was the end of the interview."

"Ruggles of Red Gap," is the film version of the novel by the same name by Harry Leon Wilson. Besides Torrence, whose masterful work in "The Covered Wagon" has elevated him into great prominence, the cast of "Ruggles" includes: Edward Horton, Lois Wilson, Fritz Ridgeway and Charles Ogil. The picture opens at the Columbia on Monday.

Professional

the hundred and one other things the navy has to do to keep in commission rather than have the ships ordered on police duty. For evidently the equipment of the navy itself is against chasing the rum fleet.

There are also those who think the use of the navy inside the three mile limit with its shallow waters would be dangerous and that relatively few vessels could be assigned to that duty. Basically the whole question is not the use of the navy at all, but the efficient operation of the customs service. The fact that the use of the navy has been discussed is a direct consequence of the inability or unwillingness of the customs service to pursue the small craft engaged in liquor traffic. There are plenty of revenue cutters manned by the special purpose of preventing smuggling in the sea coasts of the United States. It's true the coast line is long but within the last two years the fleet has been concentrated in only a few places along the Atlantic coast in plain view of everybody. The government has shown that only by small craft putting out from American shores could the liquor be obtained and has known also that any man engaged in the business of getting liquor ashore from the rum fleet could be arrested and prosecuted under conspiracy statutes which carry adequate penalties. A good detective force on land would make the use of either the navy or the revenue cutters practically unnecessary.

The customs service is under the treasury department which also embraces the Prohibition unit itself. The first cry for the employment of the ships of the navy department occasioned much curiosity as to why another department had to be asked to enforce the Prohibition act. The late President Harding was well aware of the weakness in the customs service with respect to liquor smuggling, and realized that it was necessary to build up among the customs employees, especially the men who had been in the service for years, a sentiment in favor of Prohibition itself.

The decision by the Department of Justice that the navy cannot sail unless congress passes a special law, will turn attention once more to the customs service with the probability that appropriations will be asked for conversion and manning of some of the submarine chasers which have been tied up since the war. As far as the personnel of the navy is concerned, there is however not a spirit of joy that the navy will not have to do domestic police duty.

Battle Was Short And Sweet

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(By the A. P.)—Jack Dempsey's spectacular victory over Luis Angel Firpo takes rank as one of the shortest heavy-weight title contests in history.

Records covering the past thirty years of major championship matches reveal but one such contest, the one round victory of Tommy Burns over Bill Squires, at Australia, at Colma, Calif., July 4, 1907. Three years prior to that James J. Jeffries before his retirement had lifted Burns to the title knocked but Jack Monroe in two rounds at San Francisco.

Two years after he captured the world's title from John J. Sullivan in 1909, Jim Corbett stopped Charley Mitchell in three rounds. While Jess Willard's towel was not tossed into the ring at Toledo four years ago until the start of the fourth round, Dempsey was credited with a three round knockout in gaining the championship. Dempsey's first battle in defense of his title was a three round knockout over Billy Miske at Denton Harbor, Michigan in 1920.

Utica Man Says It Was His Alligator

Several weeks ago local boys found an alligator in the Ohio river while swimming and after killing it took it from the river and showed the animal to their friends. Where that alligator came from no one knew but now W. W. Reynolds of Utica, O., in a letter in the Ohio State Journal writes that it was possibly the same alligator he sent to Beaver Falls, Pa., six years ago. His letter under the head of "Inhumanity" was as follows:

I read that three boys killed a four-foot alligator in the Ohio River, at Portsmouth. Six years ago I sent a little one to some girl friends at Beaver Falls, Pa., College. They left it on the campus one day and never saw it again. It had smelted the Beaver River, and it is very probable that those miscreants killed my alligator. What did they want to kill it for, anyhow? Why are some men and boys set on killing off every bird, beast, and fish they can get to? The person who takes life, except for food purposes, or to destroy vermin, should suffer bodily torture. Even the heathen and savage are guiltless of such cowardice, cruelty and destruction. All wild things fear man because some are so cruel. In the Yellowstone Park, where game is protected, it is tame. I have been within a few yards of bears, deer, jack-rabbits, porcupines, prairie dogs and gophers. I have had groundhogs come to me and bite a lead pencil I saw 3 at one time, sitting up eating crackerjack from children's hands. It is a pleasure to see these nice creatures, and they have a right to their lives, unless they are a damage.

Camera Saw Arguello Naval Disaster

A striking wreck photograph which tells the dramatic story of the sea tragedy that ended in the ruin of seven destroyers of the Pacific fleet. Above appears the U. S. S. LEE clinging against the rocks where she was driven in the heavy fog, and in the background of the same picture is the U. S. S. NICHOLAS, down by stern and listing to starboard. (Copyright, 1923, by International News Service.)

Panoramic view of the seven U. S. destroyers on rocks two miles north of Point Arguello, Santa Barbara county, one of the most remarkable photographs of a shipwreck ever presented. Each of the vessels is shown in the order in which they were stranded and all are definitely identified by their position on the reef. No. 1 is the U. S. S. LEE fast against the cliff; No. 2 is the U. S. S. DELPHY, cut in two; No. 3 is the U. S. S. YOUNG, heeled over; No. 4 is the WOODBURY, 200 yards off shore, right side up; No. 5 in the distance, is the FULLER, right side up. (Copyright, 1923, by International News Service.)

Brilliant

This time it seemed as if he could not get up again, but he did. He stopped over the fallen body of his adversary as, if he thought, the fray had ended. But it hadn't.

With the count of nine the South American was on his feet again and rushed his rival. It was a stupendous, a staggering rush that sent Dempsey to his knees. Jack rose, battered but game.

But Firpo was at him in an instant. He loosed a right swing that landed squarely on Dempsey's jaw. The crowd, crazed by the drama it was witnessing, gasped as it saw Dempsey dashed through the ropes out of the ring, landing flat on his back on the press benches.

In an instant he was back, but he was groggy, stunned. His legs quivered under him. He was pale.

But Dempsey had fought more battles than the daring youngster from the Argentine and his strategy saved him. He fell promptly into a clinch until his brain cleared. Then Firpo then been able to land one of his staggering rights, a different story might be told, but he was unable to follow up his advantage before the bell tolled. Before walking to his corner Dempsey cuffed the South American several times about the head, but the referee appeared not to notice it.

The crowd was quite unable to recover from the thrill of the first round when the fighters were at it again, fighting like wild men. Neither thought of putting up a defensive fight. Each was out to win immediately, to crowd all their chances into the first few rounds.

Once, twice more, Dempsey sent the Argentine crashing to the floor. But when it seemed impossible for the fallen giant to rise, he was on his feet again.

And then the knock-out. A left to the body, a tremendous right to the jaw and the great Argentine lay flat on his back under the cluster of are lights. His face worked in agony. Blood streamed from his mouth. For a count of two he lay quite still. Then he struggled to rise, but the champion's magnificent attack had been too much for him. He flung his left across his body, half rolled to his right side, strove valiantly to get his legs under him, but the count of ten sounded.

Dempsey rushed to his fallen foe and lifted him to his corner. An ovation worthy of the fighting man he is awaited him. Frenzied fans crashed down on the press section, stormed it, captured it, leaped to the ring itself. For a moment it seemed as if the police would lose control of the crowd, but finally order was restored and the victor was escorted to his dressing rooms.

Oklahoma

The whole evening had kept the police on their toes, for outside the grounds was gathered a throng as great as that massed within the stadium walls and on several occasions, during which prospective spectators were turned away from the grounds, officers had to be called into action to clear the crowd into line.

The champion himself, who arrived at the main gate, had difficulty in entering, and Jess Willard, who sat at the ringside, spent 45 minutes fighting his way through the throng.

The Tribune in asking a Federal injunction to prevent the fight, did not discuss what steps he planned at Muskogee, where W. H. Sampson refused to obey the executive's ultimatum to rescind as "Exalted Cyclops" of the Muskogee Klan.

In well informed circles it is predicted that martial law soon would be declared in both Muskogee and Oklahoma City.

Dempsey's Experience, Craftiness Saved Champion In The First Round

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(By The A. P.)—Jack Dempsey still holds undisputed sway as heavyweight champion of the world, but only after the crown he has worn for the past four years had come perilously close to being toppled from his scowling brow.

The champion stands out as a mightier figure than ever, one of the greatest title-holders of all time, as a result of his smashing, dramatic knock-out of Luis Angel Firpo last night at the Polo Grounds in the 2nd round of a match that for savage fury of attack has no parallel in pugilistic history. But only a master-piece of generalship, plus the experience of the Argentine giant, saved the champion from defeat tonight.

ward the close of that spectacular first round when Firpo, with the ferocity of a wild beast, rose from his fifth knockdown to drive Dempsey through the ropes with a terrific right swing to the jaw.

Dempsey, never knocked down since he battered Jess Willard into a helpless mass and ascended the ring, his knees quivering, but a few moments after it seemed that he had beaten his challenger into submission. But then, just when Firpo had the championship and fortune almost within his grasp, the champion's generalship, his instinctive defense, saved him. He gripped Firpo's arms, blocked the challenger's rush, and before either could start another assault, the bell ended the round.

Master of the situation once more, Dempsey made short work of his battered opponent in the second round, flooring him twice before a short right upenent to the jaw—it did not travel over a foot—brought his foe down for the eighth and last time.

The champion's greater speed, the versatility and unerring accuracy of his attack and strategy, plus his terrific punch, had brought him victory.

Firpo, beaten for the first time since his meteoric rise to prominence, fought the greatest fight of his career. His right was never mightier; he proved beyond the shadow of a doubt his gameness under the hottest of fire. But when his great opportunity came he was outmaneuvered and outgeneralled.

Dempsey was the quicker or at least with a two fast assault where Firpo had but one big gun. The champion was constantly beating his challenger to the punch. Thus it was that Luis was stretched on the floor five times before he suddenly turned the tables on the title holder. Firpo was the first to land his right thudding against the champion's side. Several times later in the round the Argentine brought home his right with all its power to Dempsey's ribs, but where they had broken down all opposition before, these blows did not check the champion's drive. The latter's hooks and jolts, delivered at close quarters, were tearing the South American to ribbons.

Waving in and out with panther-like rapidity, Dempsey shot home his thrusts while he checked and blocked most of Firpo's counter rushes. He wrestled and "roughed" the challenger and these tactics, it seemed, almost as much as his jolting punches, forced Firpo to the canvas. Perhaps the champion grew too confident as he sensed victory, but he was caught "wide open" and unprepared when Firpo came back to drop Dempsey first to his knees, then through the ropes to the press benches.

Dempsey's victory removed all doubt that he had lost his old punch, a doubt that had been a source of unending debate ever since the champion failed to stop Tommy Gibbons at Shelby last July. Against Firpo, the title-holder, was the same "man killer" the same relentless assailant that had wrested the championship from Willard.

And in defeat, Firpo gained glory and prestige that stamp him as still one of the most dangerous of all title challengers. His future has not been crushed by defeat. Experts who thrilled to his gallant stand last night grant him all the requisites of a champion except training and experience. Another year of development under proper tutelage, they believe, will bring this swarthy giant back again to the top, a far more formidably equipped challenger.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I am going to a convention some time this fall and as I have never been to a swell affair like that, I wish you would tell me what I will have to do. I have been told that there are so many knives and forks and spoons at these things that one doesn't know which one to use first. Is this so? And Dolly, what is a person like me going to do when she bumps up against a proposition like that? I don't want the other delegates to think that I am a dumb-bell, as I expect to get quite well, thank you. Now, Dolly, give me some pointers, and I will tell you all about it when I come back.

INTERESTED READER.

These banquets are not as swell as you imagine. While they are often times served in style, they are always quite informal, and everyone is made to feel as much at home as if they were eating in their own dining-room. As for your manners at the table, follow the lead of someone older, or more versed in things of this sort than you. Put your napkin on your lap, and as for the silver, you probably will find your knife and several spoons at the right and one or two forks at the left. If you have soup, use the largest spoon, or one with a round bowl. If they have fruit cocktail, use a spoon for that. If there is a short, wide fork for salad, cut your salad with this, but do not use both knife and fork. Many people use a fork for cake, especially if it is rather soft and apt to make your hands sticky. You will get along all right if you just go a little slowly and follow the lead of someone else.

Dear Miss Wise—I understand there are never to make corned beef without picking the meat. I think they mix the beef and pork together. Do you happen to have this recipe?

MRS. X. X. Z.

If you will put about a pound of smoked ham in with about two pounds of boiling beef, you will have a fine mess of corned beef. It gives the regular corned beef, and I imagine if it were made with a half of it he would soon have his feet parked under your table, even if Maggie did come after him with a rolling pin.

Dear Dolly—I am a young man, tall and slender, and I have a friend who is terrible fat and yet he can float like a cork. I can't, now, Dolly, why is this? Don't you imagine he would sink right off the reel, or as soon as he hits the water. Please explain this to me as I have been worrying quite a bit about it. He also kills me along, saying my bones are so heavy that I can't float.

MISTER GROUSE RETURNS

There, on a fallen log, stood the most gorgeous bird that ever happened outside a fairy tale.

MISTER GLOPP motioned to Nancy and Nick to come nearer by the place where Misses Grouse was talking to Chatterbox.

So they all slid off their ponies and crept up ever so softly on their hands and knees. They were so close now they could see the wicked gleam in Chatterbox's eyes as he went on teasing Misses Grouse about her brown feathers and her plain family.

"Why doesn't your husband stay with you?" teased Chatterbox. "Is it because he's ugly, too, and ashamed of being seen? I hear that he goes far back in the mountains and keeps bachelor's hall."

"Did you ever see my husband?" asked Misses Grouse in a queer voice. "Ha, ha, ha! No, he, he, he!" laughed Chatterbox. "That's a good one! Did I ever see him? Why, no indeed! He never stays at home long enough for anybody to see him. I bet you he's as ugly as a new fence."

Misses Grouse didn't say anything. Indeed, she didn't appear to be listening to Chatterbox at all, but to something far away.

Then the Twins and Mister Glop heard a faint call that came nearer and nearer, and pretty soon a loud drumming that nearly deafened them.

Portsmouth, O., Sept. 15, 1923.

Many years ago when people traveled in covered wagons, drawn by oxen, and there were no roads to speak of, a boy might start out to borrow a cup of sugar from a neighbor and get back home some time after his hair had begun to turn gray.

Today transportation has improved. All the world has been made your neighbor. If a Portsmouth boy desired to borrow a cup of sugar he could start in the morning and get it in Columbus and return in plenty of time for dinner. Friends and relatives can go hundreds of miles to see sick friends and relatives with no inconvenience whatever. Doctors who used to hitch up the old mare and drive all night, arriving in time to be too late, can now visit country patients and get home in time to go to a picture show.

This is PROGRESS. Yet we have in our midst an organized band of Pirates who are cutting the throat of this Progress. Every morning the newspaper contains a disgusting account of their raids upon unsuspecting motorists, who are committing an crime whatever, but who are accused of "speeding."

"Speeding" is only miles an hour speeding? A good athlete can run twenty miles an hour on foot for a short distance. Should not a thousand dollar development of science be allowed to travel twice as fast?

I have said these things many men who are trying to stop the trend of progress are Pirates. They are worse than that, because a Pirate did fly a flag, but there is anyone on our roads a sign warning drivers of the perilous traffic that is being carried on? Recently a man from Toledo, according to the newspaper, was arrested and fined for driving 40 miles an hour on our country roads.

I have recently returned from Toledo, but they didn't make a criminal of me up there, for the roads in the northern part of the state there are signs posted at intervals along the roads, cautioning people of the sections in which slow driving is deemed necessary. And these sections are not include the entire length of the road from county line to county line, either. But that section of the state is progressing. You can see it as you drive along.

They have roads up there to drive on, too. A man can dim his headlights without running any risk of going into a ditch and mauling his companions as well as breaking his own neck.

Think this over: Are our roads safe to drive on at any speed? Are our roads safe to drive on with dim lights? Try the road to Hardon, or Buena Vista, or Minford.

How many real criminals who have run over and killed pedestrians at street crossings have been punished? Dollars if you name one.

How many drunken drivers who have been suspended from driving figure in accidents before their time of suspension is over?

How many so called speeders really are reckless and figure in accidents? Darn few.

Are we going to permit the county

What The Fighters Say

RINGSIDE, PLOO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(By the P.)—Jack Dempsey admitted last night after his victory over Luis Angel Firpo that he never had received such a good fight in his life. "I was as I thought I would," said Jack, "but I can truthfully say that I never had such a fight in all my life. When he socked me on the chin in the first round, knocking me through the ropes after I had knocked him down, I thought my finish had come.

"Firpo is everything every second. I hit him with everything I had and certainly was surprised when he continued to crawl off the floor. "He is game and the hardest hitter I ever faced. It was the first time I was knocked down since I became champion and I'll never forget it. I saw $50,000 stars when I got that punch on the chin that knocked me out of the ring.

Baptist Convention Closes
The Tenth Annual Session of the Portsmouth Baptist Association closed last night at the First Baptist church with a good attendance present to hear the farewell addresses by Rev. H. H. Houf, D. D., president of Rio Grande College, on "The Business of a Christian College" and by Rev. T. F. Chambers, D. D., secretary of the Ohio State Baptist Association, on "The Heart of Evangelism".
At six o'clock a dinner was served in the church basement in charge of the B. Y. Y. Society. Several toasts and short talks were given at this time by B. Y. Y. workers.
It was decided that the mid-year meeting will be held in April at Jackson. Both Wellston and Sciotoville have issued invitations for the next annual meeting but this will be left to the Executive Board to be decided upon. The time may also be changed from September to the latter part of August. Every one reports this session to have been a very pleasant and successful one.

Shatters World Record

This action photo of Para Nurio, brilliant Finnish runner, was taken when he recently ran a mile in 4:10 2-4 at Stockholm, lowering the world mark of 4:12 2-5 set by Joie Ray, of America.

Haven't You
often wondered why so many men always look so neat and others, while they apparently are well dressed and frequently have new clothes there seems to be something lacking? Did it ever occur to you that they had neglected their feet? Improperly fitting, bad selection as to style, will always make a good looking suit of clothes look badly. Why not come in and be fitted in a pair of our new Fenway's (like cut) in either black or tan calf skin or patent calf? This is one of my new oxfords and I find a very good one, both in style as well as material,—not expensive, seven and seventy-five. Many other styles.

PAULINE JORDAN, former Greenwich Village girl, has organized the only school for the blind in Armenia. Her pupils are children from the Near East Relief orphanages in Alexandropol. The school now has an orchestra, played by blind, and also a training center for blind teachers.

FOR MANY YEARS civil engineer of the capitol at Washington, David Lynn recently has been appointed architect of that building to fill a vacancy created by the death of Elliott Woods. He is a native of Cumberland, Md. His appointment was made by President Calvin Coolidge.

"HOLD 'ER NEWT!" Dad Moran, champion pack-horse packer of the Rocky Mountains, is shown in Glacier Park "doing his stuff." Dad packs 'em with everything. He even can get eggs atop a plunging horse without breaking the yolk. His long suit is packing lumber, regarded as a most difficult accomplishment. This particular horse showed a dislike to the lumber awaiting to be piled on him, and is doing his best to buck it off.

TRADITION SAYS THAT TWO WHITE OAK saplings, twined together by Indians, grew together and formed the twin white oak on the farm of W. C. Rockwell, near Mt. Vernon, Ohio. The "freak" has been the center of attention in that part of the country for many years. Height of the tree is 70 feet.

THIS GERMAN POLICE DOG, "Jacob" by name, arrived in this country on a little Dutch boat after 70 days on the water. When interviewed, Jake said he enjoyed the trip, but is not looking forward to the return voyage. He said he'd like to stay here, but his family needs him back home.

JUAN PIONE, one of the few survivors of the tribe of Cuyapipe Indians, is said to be the oldest man in the world. Thought to be 150, he is definitely known to be at least 120. He lives with his wife (right) on a reservation near San Diego, Calif.

MRS. W. H. GARRISON, wife of the new commandant of Bolling Field Air Station, Washington, is shown here with her two young daughters, Nancy Lou and Ethel. Washington society has welcomed her with open arms, and if you know Washington society, that means something.

PRESERVED AS A PRECIOUS RELIC in Los Angeles are the shoes of Fr. Junipero Serra, founder of California's oldest Spanish mission. He wore these walking along the king's highway long ago—before New York City was on the map, and before a lot of other things happened, too.

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHERS these days don't care how much they risk their necks for the sake of their art. This chap wanted to get a good picture of the George Washington Memorial, Alexandria, Va., in process of construction, and decided to take it from the air.

"JOE" CONNOR, CADDY at Westchester-Biltmore Country Club, has a million freckles. If you don't believe it, count 'em. He's a great favorite with society folks who play around the course, and they call him the world's champion freckle-face. If anyone has any more than a million, let him step forward.

BALSA WOOD is said to be a good substitute for cork as a filler in life preservers. The piece on the left has 402 square inches of surface and weighs 23 ounces. The piece of Guyanese wood, on right, but 30 inches in diameter, weighs the same.

NATIVES IN SOO CHOW, CHINA, had great sport watching 200 gobs of the American navy "four" the city on wheels. The mules were used as a substitute for the rubberneck wagons found in most cities of the world. It is rumored this particular liberty party ate their chow for a week standing up, too.
